

If Lexington experiences another large population growth, that growing demographic will drive the housing markets with its own particular needs. In the following the projections, the current population will continue to increase and the racial composition will change. The job and housing markets must be available to keep this growing population in Lexington.

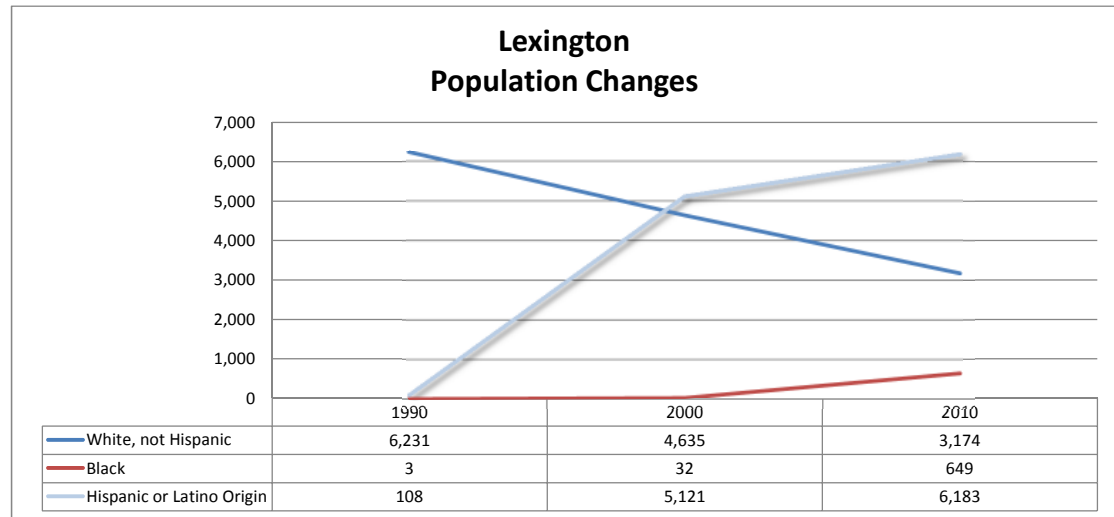

Figure 4: Lexington Population change

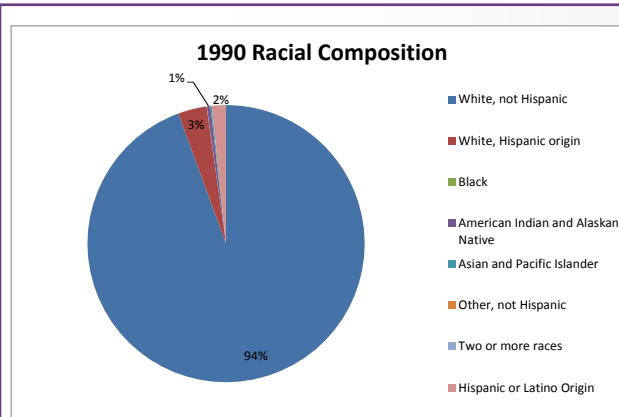

Figure 5: 1990 Racial Composition, Lexington, NE

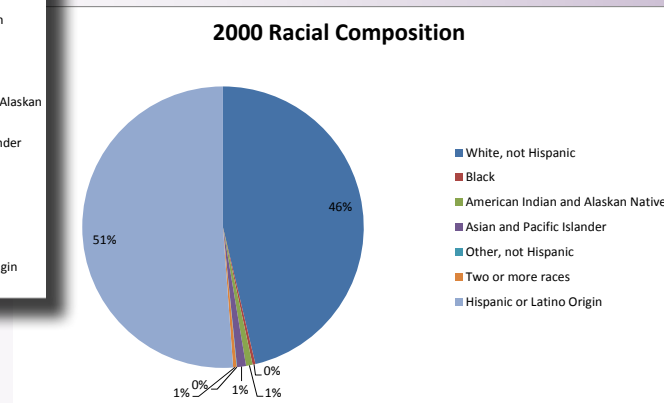

Figure 6: 2000 Racial Composition, Lexington, NE

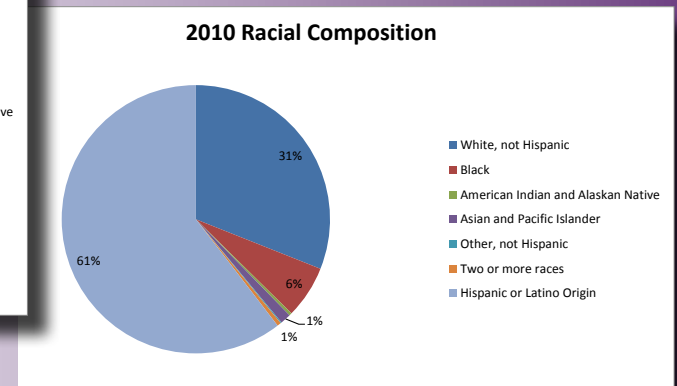

Figure 7: 2010 Racial Composition, Lexington, NE